DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-13, drawn to a method of manufacturing a cartridge, classified in class 426, subclass 112.
- II. Claims 14-26, drawn to a cartridge system, classified in class 99, subclass 295.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process, such as one not requiring the filling of the outer member with beverage ingredients.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

During a telephone conversation with Joseph Shipley on a provisional election was made without traverse to prosecute the invention of Group I, claims 1-13.

Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action.

Claims 14-26 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37

CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Masek et al.

There is disclosed in Masek a beverage producing cartridge and method of constructing, including: the production of a plurality of outer members 8, 17, 25 each having a differing shape and configurations; the production of a plurality of inner members 13, 23, 30 each having a differing shape and configuration; the selection of and conjoining, by welding, of one of the plurality of outer members with one of the plurality of inner members; each outer member being filled with a beverage ingredient; and each outer member being sealed with a lid 12, 21, 29 to form a finished cartridge.

In regards to the storing of the outer members and inner members, such is not definitive of a manufacturing step and is therefor not given patentable weight. Additionally, it is inherently taught that the outer and inner members are stored, at least for some period of time, before they are assembled together.

In regards to claim 2, the inner members are taught in Masek as having a filtering function.

In regards to the type of beverage ingredient which is contained and filtered by the outer and inner members, such is not definitive of a manufacturing step. But, it is clear from Masek that soluble ingredient is appropriate.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Masek et al.

While Masek only discloses three types of inner and outer members, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to produce additional types which would involve a different shape, in order to be usable in various types of coffee makers.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 13 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The patents to Nordskog and Schmidt as well as the patent publication to Denisart et al. are cited for their disclosure of the state of the art.
